

Peckham Building Histories

The chart and pictures can be used in different ways. The information comes from the Southwark archive and was collected from two different sources a census and Street directories. Children can learn that documents in libraries and archives are an important source for historical research and specific information can be found out about houses and shops in their neighbourhood. The questions on the page 3 could be given to children to work on independently or together as part of a class discussion. In our project we used the pictures and chart to inspire creative writing. Page 2 needs to be printed at A3 as otherwise it is difficult to read.
